How to Choose a Water Heater

Is tankless water heating for you? The only way to know for sure is to ask a professional.

- Learn which water heating products are best suited for your particular needs. In some cases, your priority may be energy conservation; in other cases, your needs may be driven by a maximum capacity demand. By asking the right questions and knowing the specifications of products, the professionals at Moore Supply can provide you with the water heating product that suits your needs.
- Be realistic. If you've put in a new custom shower, it is not reasonable to expect that a 40-gallon water heater will now meet the demand for hot water. Be prepared to upgrade.
- Take advantage of energy conservation enhancements that manufacturers now offer. Working with the professionals at Moore Supply, you can satisfy the federal requirements that allow tax credits.
- Whether your desire is energy conservation or the need for very large amounts of hot water for a custom shower, we have the knowledge of the products and the desire to help you realize your dreams.

A Texas-based company serving Texans in nearly 45 locations throughout the state, including seven in the Houston area plus a regional office in Conroe, Moore Supply Company handles all things associated with residential and commercial plumbing products. Those products include water heaters, faucets, disposals, water softeners, steamers, sinks, toilets and whirlpools — and the pipes, valves and fittings that make them work properly. The company's expert staff is ready to help with your product selection and to make referrals to reputable, professional plumbers for final installation.

SUPPLYING THE RIGHT STUFF

*Our Showroom Staff:
Chadney Alvarez,
Joe Simmons &
Anita Fuehrer of Moore Supply Co.*

Joe Simmons, a 30-year veteran at Moore Supply Company.

Choosing the right plumbing product from the beginning means never having to make that second...and third...trip back to the store. "At Moore Supply, we spend a lot of time making sure our staff is knowledgeable," says Simmons. "Every employee is factory trained by the manufacturers of those products. You can feel confident you will get honest, competent help and advice.

Moore Supply Co. is a destination employer, meaning it is not unusual to find multiple 20-year veterans at any one of our locations in Texas. Our corporate office is in Conroe, Texas. We are a Texas-based company selling in Texas to Texans. We are very proud of that.

"We understand the chief concern with any plumbing job is that it be done with safety and code requirements in mind. Improperly installed water heaters pose a risk of water damage and scalding, and in a worst case scenario, explosion. You never want to put your family's safety at risk through improper installation.

"We believe that for customers to leave Moore Supply Co. completely satisfied, we must identify their needs, provide the correct products to satisfy those needs and provide those products at a competitive price so our customers will be able to enjoy their purchases and have peace of mind."
