Opposites do attract. For example, just take black (reflects none of the colors of the visible spectrum) and white (reflects all of the colors). Night and day. Yin and yang.

Put them together in floral, stripes or practically any pattern, and you have a knockout combination for wall-coverings to textiles to paint. And black and white objects work well in ultra-modern to traditional home settings.

Sophisticated and simple. Daring and safe. Elegant and playful.

That’s black and white.

LEFT: “Trapez” pillow from Maharam, $125

Montclair Ottoman by Century Furniture. Find Century Furniture at Dillard’s.

From Jonathan Adler, horse head lamp, $375. Nest carries Jonathan Adler creations.
